HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

(DISPATCHES TO THE [illegible])

EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 15

(Congressional)

WASHINGTON April 1[illegible] — The Senate Republican [illegible] counsel [illegible] charges against Secretary Corbam [illegible] ter was [illegible] back without [illegible] the [illegible] three Senators [illegible] took the testimony.

CHICAGO April 15—The Tribune's Washington special says the Freedman's Bureau Investigation begun to-day. The Committee announced to the counsel that no rules of the evidence will be allowed and no ratification of rules will be made. The evidence will be more restricted than at any former Congressional inquiry. Even verdict examination will not be allowed, and an unusual obligation of secrecy imposed so that nothing can be learned except from witnesses.

The Senate Military Committee expect to finish the consideration of the Army bill next Wednesday. It is understood that several prominent features of the House bill have been changed. The pay tables as fixed by the latter are retained.

David Eckstein, of Cincinnati, has been confirmed as Consul to Vancouver Island.

The report that the House Committee had agreed to report favorably on Washburne's Postal Telegraph bill is untrue.

The talk of members indicates a disposition to do something in the way of the union of Post Office and Telegraph, but no bill whatever has been adopted and there will be more discussion before any essential details are settled.

WASHINGTON April 14.—In the House to day Dawes from the Committee of Conference on the deficiency bill submitted a report and offered to make any explanation asked on points covered by it, which were in reference to the Marine Hospital at Chicago Custom House at St Paul, and Post offices at New York and Boston. The deficiency bill now only awaits the signature of the President.

Sumner introduced a bill to simplify and reduce postage, abolish the franking privilege, limit the cost of carrying the mails and regulate the payment of postage. He gave notice of his intention to move to substitute it for the pending bill to abolish the franking privilege. The bill reduces postage to one cent for half ounce letters, substitutes for the franking privilege a system of stamped envelops.

Warner introduced a joint resolution directing the Census Marshals not to be required to act under the census act of 1850 and to be sworn to support the Constitution of the State and United States. Referred.

The bill amendatory of the census law passed as amended by substitute of Senate Committee. It provides that the Census Marshals shall include statistics respecting surviving officers, soldiers and sailors of the war of 1812 and their surviving widows, and concerning their pensions. It fixes the time within which returns shall be made as to population and mortality, and increases the compensation of Marshals, gives all Marshals eight cents for each page. The original census returns are required as in the 11th section of the second act of 1850.

The Georgia bill was taken up and discussed by Pomeroy in favor of his amendment, and Hamilton, of Texas, enforcing his views and by Morton in favor of Drake's amendment for military intervention to suppress Kuklux. It was agreed that a final vote should be taken at six o'clock on Tuesday.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Commissioner Delano has reinstated special order No 7 prescribing that a new form book shall be kept by wholesale liquor dealers, rectifiers and distillers, to take effect May 1st. The Commissioner has decided that hotel bills incurred while traveling in the prosecution of business, may be deducted from income returns.

Gen Ord in his report, recommends that the Bycteres and other Apache Indians should be placed on reservations away from mining lands.

WASHINGTON April 15.—Gov Fairchild of Wisconsin and Gov Austin of Minnesota are here. Gov Merrill, of Iowa, will be here to day. In conjunction with Gov Harvey, of Kansas they will press upon Congress next week the passage of a bill providing for uninterrupted communication between the Mississippi river and Lake Michigan by way of the Missouri, Sac and Fox rivers.

The Georgia bill will occupy two entire days of next week. Trumbull will close the debate.

In the House the Naval Committee have nearly finished their bill for reorganization of the line and staff of the Navy. They entirely rearrange and somewhat reduce all staff corps and fix the rank of each grade of officers. The principal feature of the bill is that it gives the staff positive rank just as it has in the army thereby overruling Admiral Porter in all his notions that line officers have precedence in command and staff officers are not to exercise authority of line by virtue of their rank, nor in any staff corps except the one to which they belong. Line and staff officers are to take precedence according to rank in processions on shore, at court martials, on boards of survey and all other courts and boards.

The census bill, put through the Senate to day is not worth consideration, because the understanding was that the House should disagree to it and insist on its own bill for the purpose of throwing the whole subject into the Conference Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A torch light procession to night celebrated the ratification of the 15th amendment and favoring the proposed change of government in the District of Columbia. Five thousand persons were in procession. The residences of prominent citizens were illuminated.

President Grant was serenaded and responded briefly and remarks were also made by Judge Fisher.

Cuban Matters

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The friends of the Cubans have received letters stating that laborers on the sugar plantations near Colon were obliged to abandon work on account of the advance of a large body of insurgents, and that the Spanish troops had retreated. A column of Spanish troops under Gen Gremelst were defeated at Puerto Principe, and Gen Jordan still commanded the patriots.

Schooner Burned at Sea.

Fenians on the War Path.

BOSTON, April 15.—Reports confirm the stories of the arrival of Fenians and munitions of war along the Canada border. A gentleman connected with the Vermont Central Railroad says that for several days there have been an unusual number of passengers carried over the road in the direction of the border towns and they are now scattered in small squads around Burlington and St Albans. The parties are all Irish, and have been very reticent with strangers. He also confirms the reports of the arrival of boxes and small arms addressed to well known Fenian sympathizers in different directions, but what disposition will be made of them is unknown. The Fenians mean to give the Canadians considerable uneasiness even if they don't make an actual attack. To guard against any surprise, the Dominion Government has concentrated a large body of troops at Montreal and in a few days there will be a strong guard along the whole frontier. The Fenians of Boston are quiet and disclaim all knowledge of any projected attack on Canada. They admit, however there is reason for the Canadians to be on the alert at all times.

PROVIDENCE April 15.—The bleaching mills at Warwick were destroyed by fire this evening. Some goods were saved from the finishing room but the remainder of the stock machinery and buildings except the car house, are a total loss. Insurance $50 000.

Taxes in New York

NEW YORK April 15.—The texts of the New York city and county tax levy bills were presented in the Assembly on Thursday last, and yesterday were made the special order for Tuesday next. There is no increase over that of last year in the amount appropriated for the ensuing year and the rate of taxation is thereby decreased.

BY THE CABLES

PARIS April 15.—The Rappel publishes a dispatch from La Creusot announcing that the strike has ended there for the time being.

The Journal Officiel contains a decree nominating M. Legris as Minister of Finance, replacing Buffet, and charging M. Emile Ollivier with the Secretaryship of Foreign Affairs [illegible] in place of Daru and Maurice Richard, with that of Public Instruction.

ROME April 15.—Yesterday a number of Fathers abstained from assisting in the meeting of the Ecumenical Council when the vote of the scheme against heterodoxy was taken. Others accompanied their votes with declarations of disapproval at the manner in which the scheme had been discovered.

The authorities keep themselves well informed as to the project of Mazzini and his party for another attempt on Rome and are obliged to increase the vigilance and severity. Within a few days forty suspected persons were arrested in Rome and the neighborhood of Pontifical towns and avowals elicited at their examination leave no doubt of an extensive conspiracy within the Papal territory by leaders who are acting in concert with a revolutionary party outside.

MADRID April 1[illegible] Senor Olozaga has been appointed President of the Council of State.

Barcelona insurgents are receiving unusually severe sentences at the hands of the Council of War.

Important Submarine Enterprise to Recover $5,000,000

An enterprise, which is attracting considerable attention at New York, is the [illegible] to sail for the Bay of Cumana, in Venezuela, to recover $5,000,000 of treasure from the wreck of a Spanish war ship which sank in those waters in 1815. The expedition is sent out by the American Submarine Company of New York, with whom the Government of Venezuela has contracted, reserving to itself a per centage of the treasure to be recovered.

During the [illegible] in which the Spanish American [illegible] separated from the mother country, the Spanish [illegible] San Pedro having on board $2 000 000 in [illegible] with which to pay the troops and [illegible] $3,000,000 in church and convent property and gold and silver plate, belonging to loyalist families along the Spanish Main who had placed it on board for safe keeping took fire, blew up, and sunk at her anchors in about twelve fathoms of water. Once or twice thirty or forty years ago, the attention of English submarine operators were called to this wreck and contracts were made with the Venezuelan Government to explore it; but all efforts to gain access to the body of the treasure failed. Some $250 000 mostly in coin, were obtained from the bottom of the bay in a small area around the wreck which was evidently thrown out at the time of the explosion. The ship can to this day be plainly seen in [illegible] feet from the surface of the water.

The great improvements effected in submarine apparatus and the success which in later years has attended such enterprises elsewhere, give good reason for believing that Yankee ingenuity now for the first time directed upon the wreck, will speedily extract its precious contents. The bay of Cumana is land-locked, and is generally smooth.

The Company have in their employ a number of the best practical divers, and for a general director and superintendent T. F. Wells, the inventor of the well known submarine armor bearing his name and which has been used in several successful operations of the kind in Europe and the United States. Mr Wells has devised and personally superintended some of the most noted submarine jobs during the last twenty five years; among them the removal of the wreck of the United States steamship Missouri burned and sunk in the harbor of Gibraltar in 1849—our Government having accorded him the contract for the work, which was required by the British Admiralty. He was also associated with the contract given to an American company in 1856 by the Russian Government immediately after the Crimean war to raise the sunken fleet in the harbor of Sebastopol. His submarine armors were used in recovering nearly $2 000 000 from the wreck of the steamship Golden Gate in 1858; they were also used at the Mare Island Navy Yard, in the construction of submarine masonry, and more recently by Col. Von Schmidt in his preliminary operations for the blowing up of Blossom Rock in San Francisco harbor.

The expedition to recover the San Pedro treasure is thoroughly equipped, and those who are acquainted with the plans, have no doubt that they will be successful.

National Debts Borrowing Money

Every nation that is forced or drawn into great war which taxes its energies and resources to the uttermost is compelled to borrow money at rates more or less disadvantageous according to the difficulties of its position and the degree of peril in which its affairs are plunged. No nation that is in desperate or even in difficult straits with a great war on its hands can negotiate the bonds or bills of credit which it is forced to emit, at their face in gold. Such a thing has never been done and never will be. In such crisis of affairs a nation is obliged to get money on such terms as it can. It would have been utterly absurd to suppose that Austria, after her military power was broken at Sadowa in the late war with Prussia, could obtain a loan to renew the war on favorable terms. She could not get money and was obliged to treat with the conqueror. The credit of a nation rests upon the same principle as the credit of an individual. No man can borrow money on easy terms if his affairs are in a perilous situation. The man who lends money to him takes a risk, and he will lend only on such terms as he thinks will compensate for the risk to be taken. It is just the same way in the case of any nation which, in the throes of a great war on the issue of which its existence depends is compelled to borrow money. Its securities will not command an amount of gold equal to their nominal value. Money lenders will discount its bonds, if they take them at all, and the public treasury will not receive in the current money of the world an amount equal to the stock which its necessities compel it to issue.

All this is very trite, and there should be now no necessity for recounting it. But plain as these facts and principles are, they are utterly lost sight of by the party in our country that is assailing the public debt and demanding that it be repudiated. Their argument is that, as the stock issued exceeds in amount the gold paid in, the surplus should not be paid, and there should be various deductions from the amount actually advanced, which would reduce the amount due to the bondholder to nothing, or, perhaps in some instances leave him in debt to the Government and make him a victim for "compulsory disgorgement." In other words, as the credit of the country was depressed during the war and it was [illegible] ble to sell bonds at their face in gold, the Government is now to refuse to pay the amount promised on the face of its bonds, and to declare for a system of "equitable adjustment," so-called, by which the debt is to be wiped out altogether. It is just as if Mr Grover, at some difficult crisis in his affairs had been compelled to raise some money, and had no other way to do it (his credit being [illegible]) but to give his note or bond with a promise to pay a greater sum in cash than he [illegible] in hand; and should, after saving his [illegible] by the operation, refuse to pay his obligation on the ground that he had not received full consideration, and that, as he had for a long time been paying interest on a [illegible] or "bonus," he therefore owed nothing.

Just us look at the public debt of Great Britain and the manner in which it was created. Before the commencement of the [illegible] in which Great Britain was involved for twenty years, the British debt already amounted to one thousand millions of dollars of money. The wars growing out of the French Revolution in which Great Britain participated, leading one coalition after another against the French Democracy and the power of Napoleon, and subsidizing all Europe against the conqueror till he was finally overthrown at Waterloo, resulted in the augmentation of the British debt to the enormous sum of nearly four thousand millions of dollars. During the greater part of the struggle the credit of Great Britain, though that country was the money and commercial center of the world, was so low that cash could be obtained only by [illegible] of stock by which the Government promised to pay from one third to one-half more than was advanced. The greater portion of the debt was contracted by inscribing the public creditor for £100 in the books of the Bank of England, in consideration of every £60 advanced to the nation. On some occasions the public credit fell much lower than this. For instance, in 1806, after the battle of Jena, when the whole continent was at the feet of Napoleon and the prospect for the formation of another coalition against him seemed entirely hopeless, public credit in England fell so low that those who advanced money to the nation received no less than £140 of stock for every £60 actually paid. Is not here a fine field for our Democratic theory of "equitable adjustment?" Interest has been paid on the whole amount of the British debt for more than half a century and upon some of it for near two centuries,—what a splendid opportunity for the enforcement of our Democratic idea of "compulsory disgorgement!" But no party in England has ever proposed either of these methods of treating their public debt. They have not got so far in finance. It is reserved for the Democratic party in our country to make a proposition which is infamous in all its parts, and to declare for a principle which would [illegible] public and private credit the world over.

Monuments of Republican Enterprise

When Republican papers and orators claim the Pacific Railway as a monument of their party's enterprise, they will do well to remember that that stupendous work was in effect begun under a Democratic administration. Congress commenced its magnificent surveys for that great trans continental railroad in 1853. It was really a greater undertaking to project such a work when Uncle Sam, the lazy giant, was yet unconscious of his powers, than it was to do it when those powers had been developed and toughened by the w[illegible] —Herald

We noticed that the Herald stated the other day that additional editorial force had been employed for its columns. We should judge from the above that at least one first class joker has been secured. In this instance he has perpetrated a very good thing. We know now because we have it from this authority that words are greater than works, that it is a greater achievement to talk about a thing than to do it, and that by far the most difficult part of every undertaking is the preliminary "blowing" about it. But it has always been noticed that some do the "blowing" and some the actual work and that they who do the former never do the latter.

It is true that a number of army officers who had nothing else to do were sent out on the plains on exploring expeditions in 1853 but it is equally true and a still more striking fact that the Democratic party while in power steadily refused to take any decisive measures for the construction of a Pacific railroad. They claimed that there was no constitutional power for it. That party never could find any constitutional power to do what was necessary to the [illegible]. The National Convention in 18[illegible] [illegible] a direct blow at the proposed [illegible] in the following resolution

2 That the Constitution does not confer on the General Government the power to commence and carry on a general system of internal improvements.

As the Democratic party acted steadily on this principle the Pacific railroad had to wait till a party got control of the country who could find constitutional power to [illegible]. It no sooner had the Republican party come into power than the Southern rebellion commenced. This retarded the Pacific railroad because all the energies of the Government were employed in putting the rebellion down. As soon as practicable however it was commenced and was put through in an astonishingly short space of time. The Herald's notion that it was just the time to build the road most easily when the country had a great war on its hands that absorbed all its resources, is good. That paper has only to get up a few wood cuts to go with its jokes to make it a very fair comic journal.

From the date of its organization the Republican party was an unceasing advocate of a Pacific railroad. In its first platform promulgated in 1856 it demanded the construction of this road by the General Government and adhered to this policy until the road was completed. The Republican party thus carried through a great enterprise which the Democrats could find no constitutional power to aid. It has likewise granted lands which will serve as a basis of credit for the construction of a northern and a southern Pacific road. It stands ready to do more but the Democratic party has taken a position against any further grants of land, and whatever is done in this direction hereafter must be done in spite of Democratic opposition.

Mr Grover in 1859

In 1859 Mr Lansing Stout was the Democratic nominee for Congress. He was nominated against the wishes and efforts of those who had, up to that time, been the ruling dynasty of the party. As a consequence the dethroned dynasty was very much disgruntled and refused to support him. Mr L F Grover who had been his competitor for the nomination was a leading spirit among those who thus turned their backs on Mr Stout and trampled on party usage. In consequence of this defection, Mr Stout came dangerously near being defeated —winning the race by less than a dozen votes, though his party had [illegible] carried every election by majorities ranging from two to four thousand. The Salem Statesman, Mr Bush's paper was against Mr. Stout, and published many articles to justify the refusal of its proprietor of Mr Grover and others, to support him. A sample of these articles may be seen in the annexed paragraphs from a leading editorial which the Statesman published at the time

> There are some violent partisans who believe that obligations to party should be paramount to every other consideration, and that a man is justifiable in going to any extreme to serve his party, but inexcusable in abandoning it upon any pretext whatever. Even gross infractions by the party of its own principles and usages, are held by some as of trifling importance, compared to the defection of individual members. The axiom with many is, that the party can do no wrong and its members are expected to follow it, whithersoever it may lead. And there are many who thus give up their conscience to the keeping of their party, and accept as political truth whatever its leaders choose to promulgate. This blind obedience to party dictation and blind following of party lead, is neither manly in the partisan nor creditable to the party in whose members a certain degree of independence of thought and action is necessary to secure its healthy existence and perpetuity
> There are many considerations which we deem superior to mere obligations to party. The truth is very often lost sight of, by unthinking or interested politicians, that there are two parties to this obligation, or, in other words, that the obligation is mutual. * * If the partisan is bound by all means in his power to further the success of his party, and to sacrifice to its interests his personal and local feelings and prejudices, the party is no less bound to preserve the purity of its principles and its organization. * * Whenever the party suffers itself, under the misguidance of unscrupulous and interested demagogues, to be led astray from its principles, or to lose sight of them from personal or local considerations, * * regardless of the public interest, the partisan is absolved from all further allegiance to the organization. * * Then we believe that it is no part of the duty of an honest partisan or a good citizen longer to uphold and maintain it.

It strikes us that if these were good reasons for the refusal of Mr Grover and others to support Mr Stout in 1859, they would be equally good reasons for the refusal of Democrats to support Mr Grover now,—especially as he stands on a repudiation platform, constructed for the party by "interested and unscrupulous demagogues, regardless of the public interests." Many Democrats, we are satisfied will see it in this light. The reasons given in the extracts above for Mr Grover's abandonment of the party in 1859 will prove to be "instructions which being taught return to plague the inventor."

Land Grants Again—Who Oppose Them

The Herald claims that its party favors the policy of land grants for railroads as strongly as the Republican party does. It says that none will be found in any party to oppose the nourishment and fostering of such enterprises by every reasonable assistance that can be given them and adds

> The attempt of the OREGONIAN therefore following the hint contained in the Republican platform to create an issue on this subject will be altogether unavailing. When it sets its lance in rest and rides in that direction it will find no Democratic opposers

The facts are squarely against these statements. The Democratic party, as represented in Congress has declared itself firmly opposed to any further grants of lands and the Democrats of this State not daring to come out in direct opposition to the policy of the party as announced by Senators Thurman, Casserly and others declined to insert in their platform any resolution favoring such a policy. This omission is all the more remarkable from the fact that the subject is one in which the people of Oregon at this time take an unusual interest and one which has recently been discussed with great earnestness in all parts of the State.

It is not necessary for the OREGONIAN to attempt to create an issue on this subject for the reason that an issue has already been created upon it. Such an issue was created in Congress when Democrats there opposed and tried to defeat a land grant which is of great importance to Oregon and [illegible] their intention to fight the whole policy of land grants in future. Riding in that direction do we not find Democratic opposers in all the Senators which that party has at the National Capitol. If a Democratic Senator is sent from Oregon he will be compelled by party pressure to fall in with his political associates there and with Casserly of California to oppose the whole policy of internal improvements aided by the General Government. This was an old Democratic doctrine, and that party in avowing it now is merely reaffirming the position it held in days before railroad progress was known. Such a policy is half a century too late. It will not satisfy the spirit of these times

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES – The Republicans of this county will meet on Saturday next at the usual places of voting at the last general election, and choose delegates to attend a county convention to be held on the 30th for the purpose of [illegible] a legislative and county ticket for [illegible] at the ensuing election. We have [illegible] to republish the boundaries of the [illegible] of this city and as the apportionment of [illegible] upon the votes of the precincts as they [illegible] the recent change in boundaries [illegible] may be no confusion as to [illegible] the boundaries of each city [illegible] and the places of voting in each.

But with [illegible] orders [illegible] old things [illegible] the white-eyed Cayuse hence to see such a thing now-a-days on a fine Nicolson pavement where the scene was then so very common in a mud hole is something attractive. Such a sight was presented on Front street last Saturday and if a corral could have been procured for the entertainment and the animal held its mettle for half a day the rider would have made money enough at ten cents admission to pay his expenses on the money and have a balance on hand with which to purchase gum boots and a rocker

CITY.

British Columbia Matters.—We acknowledge a call on Saturday from a gentleman of New Westminster, B. C., Hon. Mr. Holbrook member of the late Legislature. The British Columbia people anticipate a great benefit to be derived from the recent adoption of the articles of confederation proposed by the Province of Ontario. One of the provisions made to our British Columbia neighbors in their "trade off" of their customs, etc., for a consideration apt to be less than the amount paid by them; is, that the work on the proposed Pacific Railway, from Ottawa to the confines of the British American Possessions, shall be commenced in three years, and the line completed in a stated number of years thereafter. The impracticability of this British Pacific Railway has been shown time and again, and it will be a matter of surprise to intelligent men in America to learn that faith in the enterprise is so firm in British Columbia as to lead the Legislature even to hope for any good thing to come out of it. Harper's Magazine for January, 1866, has an article which gives an account of an attempted exploration of the country by British travelers through which the proposed road would have to pass, and we must confess that upon reference to it, on this occasion, we see no better prospects for the road than those who made that two years' reconnoissance could see. And their survey, if it settled anything at all, established the fact that the scheme is entirely impracticable. We are sorry that our British Columbia friends did not get a better boot in their transaction than such a [illegible] promise. Mr. Holbrook left by the Moses Taylor for the East, and we understand will take dispatches of the British Columbia Legislature to the province of Ontario.

Unfortunate Affair at St. Helens.—On Saturday last, about 10 o'clock A. M., an unfortunate affray occurred between two citizens of this county, Samuel A. Miles and J. H. [illegible], in which the former was shot by the latter, and a wound inflicted which may possibly prove fatal, from all that we are able at this writing to learn. The steamer Carrie, which reached here [illegible] hour or so after the difficulty, was [illegible] to return here for a surgeon to attend [illegible] upon Mr. Miles, and Hon. W. [illegible] came up on that mission. We could learn but a few of the circumstances from him, [illegible] to return. Later in the evening Deputy Sheriff Williams arrived on the Okanogan with [illegible] in custody, and the prisoner was placed in jail. We applied to Mr. Williams [illegible] but he was averse to saying much [illegible] from what we are able to [illegible] of the facts of the case have been so [illegible] that we feel disposed to [illegible] few remarks as possible. [illegible] who have been intimate with the [illegible] between Miles and Campbell for [illegible] have given us portions of the [illegible] they wish to bring into court, upon [illegible] Campbell, and we do not feel justified [illegible] in the defense of either, at this [illegible] unfortunate affair, purely personal [illegible] occurrences which [illegible] in any community.

[illegible] St. Paul Society.—This society [illegible] for the relief of the sick poor of [illegible] last year. The officers [illegible] McCormick, President; D. [illegible] Vice President; O. F. Bell, Secretary [illegible] Treasurer. The first appeal of [illegible] the public is made for the literary [illegible] entertainment at Philharmonic Hall [illegible] we give the programme:

[illegible] of the society will explain the object [illegible] at the Hall this evening. Admission [illegible]

[illegible] Primaries.—The Republican voters [illegible] will meet on Saturday next at [illegible] of voting at the last general election [illegible] to attend a county convention [illegible] on the 30th for the purpose of [illegible] legislative and county ticket for [illegible] the coming election. We have been [illegible] the boundaries of the precincts [illegible] in the apportionment of delegates [illegible] the votes of the precincts as they [illegible] change in boundaries, and [illegible] confusion among voters, we [illegible] of such city precincts, [illegible] of voting in each.

[illegible] precinct embraces all that part [illegible] of the line of Couch's Addition [illegible] of meeting in the schoolhouse, [illegible] streets.

[illegible]—all that party of the city [illegible] Addition and Morrison street; [illegible] between Stark and [illegible] Theater.

[illegible] all that part of the city lying [illegible] street and Madison street. [illegible] the old Court House, corner of [illegible]

[illegible] Precinct—all that part of the [illegible] of Madison street. Place of [illegible] Clay and Front streets.

[illegible] the Cayuse.—Before Portland [illegible] such large proportions; before [illegible] the old "Columbian Hotel" [illegible] of the Oregonian office; before [illegible] pioneer" of frame structure [illegible] was removed to give place [illegible] Parrish block; before the "Carter House" [illegible] "Carter Block"; in brief, [illegible] Gilman's Block, Odd Fellows' [illegible] buildings, etc., etc., it was [illegible] to witness the manœuvres [illegible] Cayuse, with intrepid riders, [illegible] spring about this time. But [illegible] other orders of "old things" passed [illegible] hence, to see such [illegible] Nicolson pavement [illegible] then so very common [illegible] attractive. Such a [illegible] Front street last Saturday [illegible] could have been procured for [illegible] and the animal held its mettle [illegible] the rider would have made money [illegible] admission to pay his expenses [illegible] a balance on hand with [illegible] boots and a rocker.

[illegible] Power.—We understand [illegible] Portland will be out for work [illegible] of the Oregon and California Railroad [illegible] As soon as the Portland takes the [illegible] J. B. Stephens will go into the shop for [illegible] The Oregon and California [illegible] are certainly not behind any [illegible] building railroads in the country [illegible] of equipments and rolling stock. [illegible] locomotives may seem an excess [illegible] of construction on this line at [illegible] but we take it as indication of the faith [illegible] in their enterprise, and an assurance [illegible] completion to the hundred mile post this [illegible]

[illegible] Powder Company.—The new brick [illegible] magazine being constructed just south of [illegible] by Messrs. Goodenough & Clark, builders, will be one of the noticeable features of the [illegible] in a few years. This improvement is being [illegible] by the Dupont Powder Company, H. W. [illegible] Agent. The Company have purchased [illegible] ground at the place where this work [illegible] being done, and after the magazine is completed [illegible] the whole will be nicely enclosed with a [illegible] fence, and the premises will be kept [illegible] in the best condition.

An Easter Egg.—While Richardson was attending to about two hundred customers at his Auction Rooms on Saturday morning, a handsome little pullet slyly walked in amongst the [illegible] the rear of the store room, and laid an Easter egg for him. The hen came back again in the evening, and if Richardson could have obtained a "persuader" no doubt that same hen would be found to "lay" in the store yet.

Careless.—It was merely a freak of good [illegible] somebody was not shot in the crowd at [illegible] Auction House on Saturday, by a [illegible] "fool enough" to try a loaded re[illegible] been procured, but a[illegible] away. We [illegible] will never forget the advice [illegible] gave him about how to avoid [illegible] in the future.

Odd Fellow Delegates.—Delegates from all the subordinate lodges in this jurisdiction will be elected this month to attend the next session of the Right Worthy Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, to be held in Portland this year, beginning in May. At last meeting of Hassalo Lodge No. 15, on Friday evening, the following gentlemen were chosen to represent that Lodge: A. J. Marshall, I. Rosenbaum, J. W. Whalley and W. W. Spaulding.

Played Away.—As one of the military bands were to leave this Department on Saturday last by the steamship Moses Taylor, the 2d Infantry band went down to the wharf, at the hour of departure, to play their musical friends a few good bye notes. The compliment was returned by the band on board, and as they were steamed out into the river and away on their course, the 23d gave them a hearty farewell.

Headquarters Established.—A dispatch from Washington announces that Major General Canby has been assigned to the command of the Department of the Columbia. This confirms the report that Gen. Canby would be sent here. The same dispatch states that headquarters have been established at Portland. The dispatch is dated April 15th, and was received here on Saturday afternoon.

Personal.—Hon. O. Jacobs, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Washington Territory, has arrived in this city. We understand that he will preside at the term of court to be held at Vancouver this week. T. H. Brents, Esq., of Clackamas county, arrived here last evening, en route to St. Helens, where he goes to attend the Circuit Court for Columbia county, which convenes to-morrow.

A New Set of Teeth.—Local items had a set of teeth presented to him on Saturday, which are to him of no earthly use, as he has a good set of his own. Hence, if the person who lost a set, on Second street, will call at the business office of the Oregonian, No. 7 Washington street, and pay for this notice the teeth will be surrendered.

For Lewis River.—The steamer Minnehaha has been chartered for a wood trade along the Columbia. She will load at wood yards on Lewis river, and the principal part of her loading will be to Cathlamet and other fisheries, where a large quantity of wood is required in cooking fish to be put up.

Vacancy Filled.—Mr. B. A. Hughes, merchant of Oregon City, has been selected by Oregon Lodge No. 3, I. O. O. F., to fill the post of P. S., made vacant by the removal of the regularly elected officer for the present term. Mr. Hughes will prove a very capable and efficient officer.

A Fact.—Natty ties, snowy handkerchiefs, nice kid gloves, neatly fitting shirts, fine woolen under-garments—everything in the furnishing line that the most fastidious gentleman could desire, may be had at low prices at the stores of such persons as advertise in the Oregonian.

Good Time.—The coasting packets in the Oregon trade are making an average of remarkably fine sailing time lately. The Whistler comes in only eight days from San Francisco. We think the tug Astoria must help them out considerably, and as often, perhaps, brings them in.

The Festival.—We wish to recompense in some way those (if any) who prepared to attend the Festival and Tableaux on last Thursday's notice. [illegible] we refer to the change of advertisement to-day. Tickets will hold good for admission at Oro Fino Hall.

Lecture.—Prof. S. C. Simpson will repeat his lecture of George Peabody, at Philharmonic Hall to-morrow evening, for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. This is in compliance with request, and it will conclude the course.

Annual Election.—At Hillsboro, on the 5th proximo, the Tualatin River Navigation and Manufacturing Company will hold their annual meeting for the election of officers and the transaction of other business.

Hand Car Excursion.—Two hand cars from up the line of the Oregon and California Railroad arrived in East Portland on Saturday evening. One of the cars brought 14 and the other 12 men. They returned by moonlight.

Should be Known.—It does not seem to be generally understood that the mail for the Dalles and Salt Lake route at this Postoffice, closes at 8½ o'clock P. M. Other mails close at 9 P. M.

Nearing Home.—Dr. Loryea and family left Omaha on the 14th, and will reach San Francisco this evening.

Powder.—The bark Whistler brought 200 barrels of powder for the Vancouver Arsenal.

Grand Ball.—A grand ball is to be given to-night at Tuttle's Hall on Madison street.

OREGON.

The Republican primaries for Linn county were held on last Saturday.

The Magnolia mills have shut down for the present on account of high water in the Calipooia.

The ratification meeting held by the Republicans at Albany, last week, was largely attended, and elicited much enthusiasm.

Miss Viola Smith, daughter of the late Delazon Smith of Linn county, died a few days ago, at the residence of her mother.

The water in the Wallamet at Salem had so far receded as to allow the Salem mills to start on Saturday last, and was still falling yesterday.

General Palmer, Major Magone, Mr. Hirsch and other Republicans came down the river Friday evening, having visited Corvallis and held a ratification meeting there, attended with the most sincere enthusiasm.

A telegram from Corvallis announces the death of James Avery, son of J. C. Avery of that place, on last Saturday, from accidental shooting in the head and breast with a shot gun. He lingered only a few hours after the accident.

The Mercury says: "The Circuit Court for Benton county is now in session—Judge Kelsay presiding. Not much of a docket. Several small jury cases besides seven divorce cases, will probably prolong the session to late in the week.

Gov. Gibbs and J. C. Powell, Esq., made political speeches at McMinnville last Monday. The Blade says the Governor came fully up to the expectations of the audience, and sustained his reputation as a public speaker. Judge Powell made a very effective speech.

Mr. D. Lock, of Walla Walla, has purchased in Polk county two hundred and seventeen head of young cattle, which he proposes to take east of the Cascades. They averaged in price $14 per head for yearlings, and $30 to $40 for cows. These cattle have wintered well and are in good condition.

From the Albany Register we learn that Mr. James Finlayson, of Linn county, has invented a seed sower, which will doubtless soon supercede all others now in the market, as the cost will be no more, and it will prove far superior in many respects to any yet seen. It can be used as a broad cast sower or as a drill.

The Mercury copies an item from the Iowa Copperhead to the effect that Henry Clay Dean, the notorious repudiator of that State, is coming to Oregon to canvass for the Democrats. From all we can learn of Dean, he eclipses Ben Hayden in all those qualities for billingsgate and filth which so eminently distinguish that gentleman (so called) from Polk.

The Statesman of yesterday says Mr. E. G. Cartwright of Albany, who is agent for the California Oil Company, informs us that the fears expressed by some as to the crop of flax seed this season, are entirely groundless. Mr. Cartwright has contracted for about 5,000 acres for the company which he represents, and thinks it will all be sown and in good shape.

The Statesman says the Ellendale Woolen Mills are in operation and will soon be ready to manufacture blankets and cloth of all kinds. They have purchased wool from California for which they pay 18 cents per pound; they expect the price of wool this season to be about 20 cents, and an effort will be made by manufacturers to work up the entire Oregon clip, and thus avoid the expense of shipping part to California and as much more back again.

West Side Mails.

Washington, March 12, 1870.

Editor Oregonian: I write this to avoid misconception as to the mails on the west side of the river. Contracts to carry the mail from Portland to Corvallis have been let as heretofore, because under the published advertisements the law required the lettings to be in that form.

I have just had an interview, however, with the Postmaster General upon the subject, and he has agreed to add to the service so as to provide a daily mail from Portland via Hillsboro, Forest Grove, Lafayette, Amity, and Dallas to Corvallis—to commence on the 1st of July, when the present lettings take effect.

Arrangements to that end will be made without delay, and all concerned may regard that as a settled matter. Yours truly,

GEO. H. WILLIAMS.

A. P. Rudolphe, the present billiard champion of America, has published the following card: "If the telegram from London, a few days ago, purporting to come from J. Roberts, Sr., ex champion of England, is correctly reported, the undersigned, champion of America, will play Mr. Roberts for the championship of the world and $10,000, three games of billiards—English game, 1,000 points; French game, 500 points; American game, 1,500 points. The games to be played in Paris, or I will toss whether New York or London is selected; and also toss which game—American, French or English—shall commence the tilt; and a second toss for choice of the nationality of the second game."

A man named Jacob Smith, who was killed by Indians in Arizona, was probably a former resident of Salem, or its vicinity. A letter to Postmaster Rinkey, from Prescott, Arizona, and published in the Statesman, says he represented himself as being from Salem, Oregon, and in that vicinity he had brothers and sisters living. One brother, named David Smith, is a carpenter.

It is reported that the gallant Phil. Sheridan will probably visit Oregon this Spring. If so his voice will be heard in the same cause which his arm was so bravely lifted to defend.

The most popular machine on the Pacific Coast is the Grover and Baker—its sales exceed all others. Wm. Cousins & Co., Agents.

Ho! ye young men who revel in fashion and wear "store clothes," ye prudent men who buy goods to get the worth of your cash, ye old men who buy goods to last the remainder of your lives, or any other man or boy who wants to buy the cheapest and best clothing, go to Kohn & Fishel, who have just opened the largest stock of Gents' Clothing and Furnishing Goods in the city. They have all the late styles of spring goods and propose to sell at rates that will please everybody.

A Torpid System.

Sometimes, without any assignable cause, the physical strength and animal spirits give way, and a strange torpor falls alike on the body and the intellect. There is little or no pain perhaps, but the natural vigor and elasticity of the nervous and muscular system seems to have departed, and an indifference to the pleasures of life, and even of its grave responsibilities, takes the place of that earnest interest in both which characterizes every well balanced mind when in a healthy condition.

This state of partial collapse is often the premonitory symptom of some serious malady. It indicates unmistakably that the vital powers are languishing and need a stimulant. In such cases the effect of a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is wonderfully beneficial. The great tonic wakes up the system from its drowse. The secretions and the circulation receive a new impetus. The relaxed nerves recover their elasticity under the operations of the specific, like the slackened strength of a musical instrument in the process of tuning. Lethargy and debility are replaced by energy and vigor, the spirits rise, and life that almost seemed a burden while the season of depression lasted, becomes once more enjoyable. That such a radical change should be produced by a remedy entirely devoid of the powerful alkaloids and minerals so extensively used in modern practice, may seem incredible to those who pin their faith on the medicinal efficacy of active poisons, but if these skeptics will take the trouble to enquire of those who have tested the corrective and alterative virtues of the Bitters under the circumstances described, they will find the statement to be true.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The Union Republican party of Oregon, in Convention, makes this declaration of its principles and policy:

1st. Unfaltering devotion to the Union, first, last, and forever; and unwavering fidelity to the Constitution and its amendments, and to the laws of our National Legislature.

2d. We wholly approve the principles and policy of the administration of President Grant, as carrying into practical application the principles for which we have successfully striven. And we particularly commend these points in his Inaugural Address, wherein he declares—"let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public places, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world," and "I would protect the law abiding citizen, whether of native or foreign birth, wherever his rights are prejudiced or the flag of our country floats;" and "I will have no policy to enforce against the will of the people."

3d. We have confidence that the Administration will wisely and firmly protect the interests and sustain the dignity of the Nation in respect to other nations, and especially with regard to our just claims against Great Britain.

4th. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime,—and the national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the uttermost good faith to all creditors at home or abroad, not only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted. And for this purpose, we favor a strict economy in the Administration of the National Government, and the application to such payment of all surplus revenue, from whatever sources derived; and that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.

5th. We make no distinction between citizens, whether of foreign or native birth; and that we sympathize now and ever with men of all nationalities striving for self government.

6th. That we are opposed to any change in our naturalization laws which shall admit to citizenship any foreigners not now entitled thereto under said laws.

7th. We favor a judicious system of railroad and river improvements in Oregon, in order to develop our resources and invite settlement of our unoccupied territory and for this purpose insist that Congress should make us liberal grants of aid.

8th. We are in favor of a tariff for revenue, with such discriminations in favor of our domestic manufactures as will not diminish its efficiency for the purposes of revenue.

9th. We favor universal amnesty to the people of those [illegible] lately in rebellion, which have been restored to full relations in the Union.

10th. We are in favor of fostering the cause of education, and are opposed to any diversion of the common school funds of this State to any other purpose than the support of common schools.

11th. We recognize in the Union Republican party the measures and men who saved the Government from destruction, and that its continuance in power is the only sure safeguard to national peace and prosperity. And with this platform we appeal to the voters of Oregon for their suffrages and support.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY CONVENTION

The Union Republican voters of Multnomah county are requested to meet at the usual places of voting in their respective precincts on Saturday, the 23d day of April, 1870, at one o'clock P. M., and choose delegates to attend a County Convention to be held at the Court House in Portland, on the 30th day of April, 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a Legislative and County ticket, and appointing a County Central Committee for the ensuing two years.

The precincts will be entitled to delegates in the County Convention, as follows:

Central, 11; East Portland, 6, Fulton, 3, Multnomah, 1; North Portland, 6, Powell's Valley, 1, Sandy, 2; Sauvie's Island, 1; South Portland, 14, St. Johns, 2; Wallamet, 2; Washington, 11.

The recent changes of precinct lines will not be observed in holding the primaries.

G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 535 AND 687 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which comes here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Killed Her Lover and then Killed Herself.

TOUCHING LETTER FROM THE MURDERESS TO THE MAN WHO HAD WRONGED HER.

A letter dated New Bedford, March 26th, says:

Lizzie W. Chapman, who shot Theodore L. Parker, at his boarding house in this city, Thursday evening, and afterward put a bullet through her own body, has since died of her injuries, although it is possible her death may have been hastened by a dose of laudanum which she took before the shooting. From the investigation of the Coroner's jury it is evident that Parker was shot first in the back as he stooped to take his hat from a chair in the entry, and as he turned toward the woman the second shot took effect in the right arm. Four shots were fired, as in addition to the two balls that are in Parker's body and the one that was found in the entry Thursday evening, a fourth ball was found imbedded in the floor of the hall yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday morning the brother of Mrs. Chapman found in a trunk in her room, No. 58 South Second street, the following letter. It is without date, address, or signature, but the mention of Mr. Parker's Christian names proves beyond a doubt that it was intended for him. It reads as follows:

"Perhaps when you receive this you will think what happened last night when you came in from the kitchen and sat down by the stove. I saw your exultant laugh to Orville, and it maddened me; it needed but one drop in the bucket to completely upset me. It was well that I could come and pray, for that prayer was the means of—well, no matter what. I have nothing to look forward to—my life is an entire blank. I see no joys nor sunshine ahead, but live on from day to day, wishing for it to end. I do not cling to life but merely wish the time would come speedily when it will be ended. Oh, God, how I have loved! I gave my whole being, soul and body, up to you; I not only loved you, but I made you my idol, and worshipped you with all a woman's true, sincere love and worship. I believed implicitly in all the vows and promises you made, for I could not think you were so entirely heartless and deceitful as to deceive me. Oh, how happy I was for a time! Every cloud had a silver lining to my sight then, for I saw with the eyes of love. Everything seemed bright and cheerful, and the sincere wish of my heart was that every one might be as happy as I was. You promised me [illegible] that you would be a true, kind friend to me for the time to come, to always have a kind word or a smile for me, and for a while you did as you promised, and oh, it was like a ray of sunshine to my heart! I could come home trying to be cheerful and resigned, but it did not last long. Of late you have treated me hardly with respect, and it has put me all back. [illegible], do you know that a woman scorned has no pity nor [illegible] mercy? Never was there a truer saying than this. I want to be friendly with you, but it remains for you to say whether we shall be friends or not. But rest assured of this—that let come what will, I shall always love as I never loved any human being, as I have loved and do love you. But you know the heart that can love can also hate. This [illegible] strange, but it is even so. I sit by my window sewing, and see the bright happy faces pass by. I do not envy them; God forbid! But I am thankful that there are some of God's creatures can be happy, though I am so utterly miserable. When I look back on the past and think of all you have been to me, all you have done for me, and how often you have told me that you truly loved me; that you loved me dearly and wanted to make me your wife, the thought will flash across my mind, could it be possible that he was deceiving [illegible] put the thought away from me as unworthy of you, for I do want to think that you are worthy of the great, deep love I have for you."

No one can read the above without being convinced that Mrs. Chapman had toward young Parker that strong infatuation so often found in women of her class toward some one of the opposite sex. Disappointed in [illegible] him, and probably on the verge of losing him, she committed the double crime which filled the community with horror.

[illegible] Sobriety.

Ev[illegible] be sober sometimes. I [illegible] to be sober [illegible] We have [illegible] seldom, [illegible] and [illegible] really reliable. [illegible] Uniform sobriety is [illegible] much against a [illegible] gives no play to the gentler feelings [illegible] the matter with him that should be looked into before one trusts him [illegible].

Mirth [illegible]. But it tends to openness, to sincerity, to sweetness. Mirth [illegible] a man of than sobriety [illegible] sometimes as a [illegible] but not half so often as [illegible].

Only consider how many men quite empty and worthless, in [illegible] neither rich nor [illegible] going by the mere trick of gravity. When some men come to you it is like sunrise. Everything seems to take new life, and shines. Other men bring night with them. The chill shadow of their sobriety falls upon every thing [illegible] gaiety, and your feelings, like birds at evening, stop singing and go to roost. Away with these fellows who go owling through life, all the while passing for birds of paradise! He that cannot laugh and be gay should look well to himself. He should fast and pray until his face breaks forth into light!

Here, too, are the immortal dullards who, it is to be feared, will never forsake the earth. Dull good men! They live with the uniform consistency of stagnation. They are said to be reliable. You always know where to find them. Safe men they are. They are none of your highflyers, never extravagant, always where you found them last! Over their blessed faces hangs the twilight of sobriety. They are immense negatives. Nothing saves them from pity but their sobriety. Men worship that, and so dullness passes for consistent piety.

Behind the mask of sobriety how many pretenders pass themselves off! Every one knows how wretchedly inconsistent with honor their out-door life is, but they have such a power of gloom in meetings, that men respect their religious experience! And so the young are taught that one can be eminently religious without being strictly honest or reliable.

Public sentiment is purifying itself. Men are beginning at last to understand that nothing is so cheerful, so full of liberty, so genial, and joyous as true religion. Christ called this sort of men children of Light. He ridiculed and denounced the long-faced hypocrites who ostentatiously prayed and prayed, and got further from grace and humanity the longer they prayed. After Him came the apostles, who cry out to all good and true men, "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, Rejoice."

With all this, sobriety ought not to be denounced. Men have a right to be solemn, in spots, and on just occasion. If men of inelastic natures and of rigid face live truly kind and upright lives, their sobriety should be considered a misfortune and not a fault. But such men are not the types of Christianity. The typical Christian hangs full of the fruit of every faculty which God planted in the soul. A man of reason he is; a man of instinct and intuition too; a man capable of suffering, full of light and shadows; stern if need be, but relenting, placable, and mild, capable of hating, choosing rather to love, strict with himself, lenient with all others, loving this world dearly, but loving the other even better; abhorring wickedness, and yet the best friend of wicked men; guileless as a child, sensitive as a woman; loving joy in himself, inspiring it in others; a lover of activity, and a lover of rest; full of thunder, and full of peace after it—this is the man which the true Gospel breeds. Ascetics, cynics, eremites, mere sobriety-mongers are all bastards.

"Whatsoever things are kind, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report * * * think on (ponder) these things."—Henry Ward Beecher.

Senator Wilson says there is not one fifth the liquor drinking in Congress that there was fourteen years ago, when he made his advent in the Senate.

CAN WOMEN FIGHT.—Dr. Lord, who since the opening of the year has been giving historical lectures in Boston, had for a subject recently, "Philippa" (the mother of the famous Black Prince), and in the course of his remarks, said:

"The annals of the Middle Ages are full of the noble deeds of women. When Edward III. was engaged in his Scottish war the Countess of March defended Dunbar with uncommon courage and obstinacy, against Montague and an English army. And, contemporaneous with her, Jane, Countess of Montford, shut herself up in the fortress of Hennebon, and defied the whole power of Charles of Blois. Clad in complete armor she stood foremost in the breach, sustained the most violent assaults, and displayed a skill that would have done honor to the most experienced generals. And Marzia, of the illustrious family of the Maldina, sustained, honorably, a siege against the Papal troops at Cesena, ten times more numerous than her own. Jane Hatchett repulsed, in person, a body of Burgundians when they besieged the town of Beauvais. In the chivalrous ages women not only attacked and defended fortifications, but even commanded armies and obtained victories. Joan of Arc, a simple and uneducated shepherdess, was the instrument of that sudden revolution in the affairs of France which terminated in the establishment of Charles VII. on the throne. Agnes Sorel aroused this king to deeds of glory when sunk in enervating pleasure. Altrude, Countess of Bertenora, advanced, in person, with an army to the relief of Ancona. Bona Lombardi, at the head of her brave troops, liberated her husband from captivity and imprisonment. Isabella of Lorraine, when her husband was taken prisoner, rallied an army for his rescue. Margaret of Anjou was the life of the Lancasterian party in the wars of the Roses, and defeated, herself, the Duke of York at Wakefield. The Countess Matilda sustained sieges against Henry IV., the great Franconian Emperor."

REMARKABLE PREMONITION.—A remarkable case of long life and premonition of death is reported from Eger, Bohemia. An old man of 108 years arose in the morning perfectly healthy, smoked his pipe, and then went out to see his son, who was working in the forest, in order to tell him that he (the father) would die that evening; at the same time telling the son how the funeral was to be conducted, and who should bear him to the grave. The son, seeing the old man's good humor and health, laughed at what he considered a whim. Nevertheless, when he returned home at night he found his father dead. The mother relates that he had returned to the house, desired a drink of water, had fallen asleep in his chair and never woke again.

Virginia has another natural curiosity besides the famous bridge which the father of one of Mark Twain's heroes helped to build. It is in the shape of a girl, four years old, having a moustache and whiskers, the hair upon the forehead reaching to the eye-brows, and a very heavy head of hair, exceedingly black, extending below the shoulders. The child is quite sprightly, with fully developed limbs and well formed body. The arms, shoulders and back, if not the whole body, are covered with soft downy hair.

Anna Dickinson says that she is not a man-hater, but she declines to be "regarded as a plaything that smells sweet like a flower, or sounds sweetly like a flute."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, April 27th, 1870.

No monetary dispatches from California or the East since Friday.

Legal Tender rates in this city 89a89¼.

The recent "clear up" in the weather gives something of an impetus to business in our city. The roads in the country are reported in an improving condition, and yesterday a great many teams were on the street giving a lively appearance to matters generally, and cheering up the retailers by the manner the country people had begun to lay in their supplies. The same state of things exists throughout the valley as we learn from our exchanges. The Salem Statesman says, "the spring trade seems to be coming on slowly, but there has been a visible improvement in some branches of business. Our merchants are opening their spring stocks or soon will be, and with the approach of fine weather better times are predicted. The season for building is about commencing, and with the amount of improvements that are projected, there must be considerable money put in circulation. This will tend to relieve the money pressure."

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence, the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it is too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, who, as a physician, has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an alarming extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his mild and scientific mode of treating these diseases, which is safe and affecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not fail, as the [illegible] responsibility resting upon them now [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
